Opdracht 1

Lees de tekst over moeder en zoon. Beantwoord de vragen op de volgende bladzijde. Geef antwoord in korte Engelse zinnen.

Jo Frost – Supernanny- on aggressive kids TV supernanny Jo Frost helps mums and dads who are desperate!

DEAR JO – In the past few months my eight-year-old son has started swearing and behaving quite aggressively towards me. When I ask him to do something, such as tidy his room or put his toys away, he answers back. Last week his teacher took me aside and said he had started swearing at school as well. When he gets together with his friends they all seem to be using the same kind of language. How do I stop this kind of behaviour?

JO SAYS: Never forget that, as a parent, you hold the authority in the house. At the moment however, your son seems to be running the show. This kind of behaviour is totally unacceptable and you have to put your foot down immediately.

First of all you need to take charge of who he is mixing with. If the group he is hanging around with is a bad influence, then you need to step in and stop him from seeing them. The next thing you need to address is possible reasons for his recent behaviour. Sometimes swearing and aggression can be a symptom of a bigger issue that the child is having problems expressing. Ask when his teacher started to notice changes in his behaviour and see if there is a link to anything else going on at school or at home. Sit him down and ask him if there is something worrying him.

When dealing with his attitude it is important to stay calm and in control. If he starts swearing and acting up, you have to stay very cool – you can't fight fire with fire.

He also has to understand that there may be consequences if he keeps acting this way. Reduce his pocket money or cut his hours on the PlayStation. Or use a reward system when he behaves well. For every day he behaves well give him a point and after a number of swear-free days he gets his reward.

As long as you are consistent and firm, you can get this situation back under control!

Do you have a nasty toddler or tricky teenager? email supernanny@the-sun.co.uk

1. According to his mum this eight-year-old boy doesn't behave very well.
Name two ways that he is behaving in that she doesn't like.

a. _____

b. _____

2. What does Jo mean when she says the mum has to 'put her foot down' (2nd paragraph)?

3. Jo gives the mum advice: there are two things she has to do immediately.
Which two things?

a. _____

b. _____

4. Jo talks about the mum's behaviour towards her son; how should the mum behave when dealing with her son's swearing or aggressive behaviour?

5. Lees de vraag en kruis het goede antwoord aan.

What is the bottom line of Jo's message?

- If a child is aggressive then as a parent you have to be really aggressive as well to get the situation under control
- A parent has the authority in the house, not the child. So parents should be consistent and firm when dealing with aggressive kids.
- Children usually spend too much time on PlayStation.

Doggy disaster

I was on holiday in Wales when my dad asked me to take our new puppy for a walk on the beach. I knew there were going to be cute girls down there, so I made sure I looked ultra gorgeous. As I was walking I noticed this perfect girl, who was walking a dog too. We started talking and I asked for her phone number. She gave it to me without a second thought. To my horror, my puppy chose that exact moment to pee on the fit girls leg. She looked seriously unimpressed, made her excuses and left. Needless to say she hasn't returned any of my calls.

Bus blush

My mate Gemma recently started getting the same bus as me. She quickly realised the boy I fancy catches our bus too and started shouting hello down the bus to him. I can normally deal with this humiliation but last Friday she shouted to him (and the rest of the bus) that I fancied him. I was so embarrassed I ran down the bus to get off and accidentally hit him in the face with my college bag on the way. The shame!
